MANAGEMENT DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME

Finance for Non-Finance Officers/Managers

Schedule: Rolling basis

Introduction

Modern day executives are working in a highly competitive environment and aspiring to assume a more effective role in decision making process. A proactive role in decision making requires managers to equip themselves with a working knowledge of finance. But one of the problems facing many non-finance executives is their inability to understand and apply basic principles of finance and accounting in their day-to-day management activities. This program is designed to train managers to interpret and comfortably use financial data to better run their organizations and to work more effectively with the financial managers of the organization.

Pedagogy

The pedagogy will comprise lectures, case discussions, and analytical exercises imparted by our Finance faculty. Select industry experts would also be included to provide practical insights.

Expected Participants

This programme is designed for middle and senior level officers or managers of Central and State Governments, PSUs, Autonomous Institutions and Private Sector Organizations who have little or no formal education in finance and accounting, but whose responsibilities include financial decision-making.
